Inkster coach-athletic director fired

Legendary coach is surprised, frustrated

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

In a 4-3 decision on Tuesday, the Inkster Board of Education decided not to renew the contract of legendary basketball coach and Inkster High athletic director George Thompson.

The board vote came as a surprise to Thompson, who has served the school district as an educator-coach-athletic director for more than three decades.

"I planned to retire in June," said Thompson, "but now I may consider other options."

Thompson said that his dismissal came as a surprise since school is scheduled to open for the 1999-2000 school year next week. He said that he did not know whether the position would be filled, and that there was speculation the board may have "someone else in mind."

Asked whether this was yet another financial move by the board to balance the budget because the school district is having money problems, Thompson replied: "I don't think so."

"I offered them some options, such as handling the AD's responsibility on a part time basis, but I didn't get a positive response. They just wanted to get rid of me. And I definitely will seek legal opinion."

Thompson has had great success with the high school's basketball programs of the past. He has coached some of the finest basketball talent in the state, players such as Eartha Faust, Dwayne Fox, Barry Hardy and "Bo" Dukes. All starred in college; some went on to play professionally.

"I have spent 34 years of my life involved with sports and the athletic programs of the Inkster School District, and I look back with satisfaction and joy at the accomplishments we have made in the district since I began, first as a coach, later as athletic director.

"When I started, the junior high school only offered one sport - boys' basketball. We now have eight sports at that level. In addition to basketball, we have track, wrestling, and football as well as girls' basketball, volleyball, softball, track and wrestling," Thompson pointed out.

Thompson said that despite the school district's financial crunch, he has managed to maintain a viable athletic program and also managed to refurbish and improve athletic facilities through contributions and volunteers. He pointed to the new football field press box, a first-class sound system in the gymnasium, weight room, batting cage, pitching machine, new baseball diamond and dugouts and a first-class eight-lane polyurethane track.

Thompson also said one of his final appointments was to name Alvin "Bo" Dukes as head varsity basketball coach. Dukes was a standout member who led the teams of the 1970's and went on to earn Hall of Fame recognition at Xavier University in New Orleans. Dukes was a professional ball player in Europe.

"With Dukes at the helm of the program, I know that the boys' basketball program is in capable hands, and that it will again rise at the level it once was."

Newly-appointed school board president George Williams was not available for comment at press time on Tuesday.

George Thompson Jr. won't be back on the bench or the AD's office at Inkster High School. The board, he says, fired him last week.

Last play TD saves Twisters' win streak

The Twisters kept their win streak alive last week.

But, just barely.

No. 4 went into the Twisters' win column thanks to a last play "Hail Mary" pass that Rob Elswick completed to Wayne's Reggie Brandon for a 26-yard TD that sealed the Twisters' 20-19 victory over the Black Swamp Patriots.

The close call came in the wake of an overtime victory against the Fury, the Twisters' playoff nemesis.

The win also was the fourth in a row for Twister CEO Glenn Brothers, who said he was elated over the victory despite the closeness of the game.

"It was a great win for us," said Brothers later. "There were only eight seconds left and I thought to myself that 'there goes our win streak', but the kids came through.

"That Elswick-to-Brandon pass was really something. These kids deserve a lot of credit."

It was the fourth win in the row for the undisputed North Division leaders of the Lake Shore Football League.

With the hard-fought victory under their belts, the Twisters also posted a victory over the always dangerous Zanesville Fury.

Typical of their past encounters with the Fury, this match up again proved to be tough and resulted in another cliffhanger that was resolved in OT.

The scoring opened in the second quarter as the Fury drew first blood and took full advantage of an errant Twister pass that gave the opponents possession on the Twister 20 yard line.

Eight plays later, the Fury hit pay dirt.

give up the point- after, the Fury had the lead and was on top 6-0, the first time a team had led the local gridgers.

However, three minutes later, the Twisters came back with the equalizer. They decided to go to the air on a last-ditch pass effort from the Fury 45 and Elswick found Brandon open again and scored with 15 seconds left in the initial half.

Chuck Pettipas booted the extra point, lifting the Twisters to a 7-6 lead that stood up until the fourth quarter.

In the third, both defenses took command and refused to give up crucial yardage.

Then, with four minutes left in the game, the Fury managed to break loose for a TD and it opted to go for the two-point conversion, which was successful.

Now up 14-7, the Fury had the Twisters' where they wanted them - deep in their own territory and only three minutes to the final whistle. But the never-say-die Twisters, sparked by Elswick, who found receiver Leonard Morawa in the end zone for a 22-yard TD toss, put them back in the game.

Pettipas's second point-after was good, and the two teams were looking at a 14-all score with 55 seconds left. The Fury returned the ensuing kickoff to their own 39, and on their second play from scrimmage fumbled the ball to the Twisters.

Before time ran out, Pe-titpas attempted a 54-yard field goal that fell just shy of the crossbar.

The Twisters and the Fury were now looking at their first "sudden death overtime period."

Although the Twisters won the toss, they decided to go on defense and their opponents managed to return the kickoff to their own 31 yard line.

Seven plays later the Twisters received the ball again thanks to the Fury's generosity in the form of a fumble, recovered by the Twisters' Aaron Brothers.

Now, deep in Fury territory, the Twisters didn't let the opportunity slip them by.

Elswick engineered a seven-play series that culminated with running back Lamar Spalding powering his way into the end zone for the decisive touchdown.

"That victory was well earned by our team," said Brothers after the Twisters walked off the field 20-14 winners. "We have had some close calls early in the season."

The Twisters will be on the road this weekend, traveling to Lorain, Ohio to face the Steelmen at Oberlin High School in Overlin, Ohio. The Twisters will return home to the Academy of Detroit, nee Cherry Hill High School, the following weekend.

On Aug. 28, the Twisters are scheduled to take on Lima, Ohio's Thunder. The kickoff is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Karen Huebner fired a six-over-par 80 at Stonebridge Golf Course to lead the field in the First Flight of the Women's Suburban Golf Association.

Huebner's score was the low gross for the flight, while Nancy Wilkie checked in with a 92 for the second-best score of the afternoon in the flight.

The best net score of the tournament went to June Wright who turned in with a 77, one stroke better than a pair of Wayne golfers - Mary Allen and Carolyn Benninger.

In the meantime, Wayne's Pat Henke toured the course with an 89 which stood up as

Morton repeat winner

They were all winners and no losers at the 1999 City Championship Golf Tournament staged the weekend of Aug. 7-8 at the Woodlands of Van Buren. Although defending champ Mark Morton managed to come back from a horrendous first round to salvage his third consecutive tournament championship, there were other winners. Their accomplishments are described with their photos.

Gary Clark, tournament committee member, congratulates and presents Mark Morton (at right) the medalist trophy for the 1999 City Championship Golf Tournament. Morton came back from a first-round 81 to shoot a 75 to post a two-day winning total of 156. It is the third straight year that Morton has won the summer classic.

Keith Kieznowski, a repeat winner in the city of Wayne, receives the Patrolman Leonard J. Anderson Memorial Trophy, awarded to the golfer who win the city title, from Gary Clark. Kieznowski finished one-stroke behind the medalist, Mark Morton, in the duel for the tournament's medalist honors.

In the battle for the Westland Women's Division title, Virg Sexton (above, at right) finished in the front of the field. Denea Phillips was runnerup, while Billie Seaver got the third-place trophy.

Bob Selberg, one of the first round leaders, hung on to win the Canton Township Championship Flight title. He beat out Kyle Gierada (at right) and John Garbossi (center), who finished second and third, respectively, in that flight.

Though he thrived in Saturday's rain, Bill Hawley (at right) wilted in the sun on Sunday, but the Wayne Memorial athletic director managed to win the Senior Division championship. Runner-up was Rick Stoner (center) and Doug Tompkins finished third.

Mark Morton (at left) strolled off the Woodlands course with a pair of trophies. Along with tournament medalist honors he also won the city of Westland title. Runner up was Brian Reed (center) and Mike Swafford settled for third place.

Inkster Legend

Among those who participated as coaches in last weekend's Inkster Legends' basketball camp were Ball State star Tamara Bowie, (above, from left) along with the Kilgore sisters - Kristen and Ryan - who were instrumental in Belleville High's outstanding season a year ago. The two sisters are expected to play a key role in the Tigers' bid for another Mega Conference championship and another run for the state honors. Some 200 boys and girls participated in the second annual Inkster Legend camp staged at the Booker T. Dozier Recreation Complex in Inkster.

Inkster's Poet-in-Residence to hold classes at local library

Author Karen Williams, Inkster resident and Detroit Black Writer's Guild board member, has been named the City of Inkster's Poet-in-Residence.

And one of Williams' first projects as the poet-in-residence is to acquaint residents or reacquaint them with poetry as a form of expression. She'll be conducting weekly poetry classes at the Inkster Public Library.

The library is located at 2005 Inkster Road.

The City of Inkster Poet-in-Residence program is sponsored by Broadside Press, the Friends of the Detroit Public Library, the Writer's Voice of Metropolitan of Detroit, and the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs.

The local poetry classes, scheduled for high schoolers and adults, are held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at Inkster Library.

Adult classes are slated for Thursday, Aug. 19 and Aug. 26; Young adult courses began on Tuesday (Aug. 17) and will also be conducted on Aug. 24.

There's still plenty of room for Inkster residents to sign up. You may register by dialing 313/563-2822.

Scheduled adult topics include: Turning the Ordinary into the Extraordinary through Poetry, also Exploring and Writing about 'Writing Healing Poetry'. There is also a class on Writing Poetry to Music.

Young adult topics include

"Turning Role Models into Poems," Exploring Japanese Poetry styles, such as Haiku, Tanka and Renga.

Williams, a well-known poet and writer in Southeastern Michigan, is featured in several African-American poetry anthologies, and has studied with acclaimed poets including former U.S. Poet Laureate, Robert Hass. She's also one of 10 recipients of the New York-based 1999-2001 Cave Canem African American Poetry fellowships.

Family, friends attend Hick's retirement party

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

Families and friends celebrated the retirement of Merle Elaine Hicks on Aug. 7 at the Crowne Hotel in the city of Romulus.

Guests enjoyed a mix and mingle, and a well-prepared and tasty luncheon.

Kevin Hicks, who served as the master of ceremony, reminisced about the trials and tribulations of the retiree.

Elaine is the wife of George Hicks.

The interesting program involved a welcome by Andrea Ampofo, a solo by Earlene Burrell, prayer by Pastor Dallas, and three skits involving family members, postal employees and members of the church's congregation.

The honoree received a "basket of love" presented by Rita Clary, and remarks also were offered by a motley group of family members.

Warm congratulations and best wishes were offered to the retirees, who said she looks forward to the coming days with a smile.

Also, the Inkster Springhill Baptist Church, located at 3655 Springhill Road, will celebrate the 13th anniversary of their pastor's installation.

In an unrelated item, the congregation and friends will pay tribute to the Rev. Oscar R. Carter during a program scheduled for 7 p.m. on Aug. 27 at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, 8000 Merriman Road in Romulus.

School retirees plan scholarships

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

The Scholarship Foundation Committee of Inkster Retirees and Spouses Association conducted a meeting recently, and atop of the agenda was funding scholarships for academically talented students.

The meeting was opened with prayer offered by Benjamin May, then Tommie Summerville, Foundation Chairperson, took over the meeting.

Discussion covered scholarships awarded by the retirees group to students who dream of attending college but do not have the financial support to do so.

The retirees are seeking pledges totaling $20,000 to help college-bound students reach their goals.

Pledge sheets will soon be appearing at various locations so that residents may also get involved in the program.

Members present at this crucial meeting included Mary Fowler, Benjamin May, Harriet and Robert Crenshaw, Dr. Callie Hester, Claudia Williams-Wright, Wilzetta Williams and yours truly, Maude Reid.

Members and interested friends are urged to send donations to the following address: Inkster Public Schools Retirees and Spouses Scholarship Foundation, P.O. Box 313, Inkster, Mich. 48141.

Salvation Army general named

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The international management team of the Salvation Army will take on new leadership next week, as General-elect John Gowans takes office replacing retiring Gen. Paul Rader.

Rader is retiring Monday after a distinguished run as general of the world-wide organization that has corps or other centers in 104 nations.

The Salvation Army's official news magazine The War Cry said Rader's visionary leadership has been characterized by his eloquent and spirited exposition of the ministry of the Salvation Army.

Rader "masterfully articulated the compelling need in the world today for a clear understanding of the gospel of Jesus Christ," the magazine stated.

Rader was one of the rare Americans, who has risen to the top office in the Salvation Army.

Gowans was born in Yorkshire, England and his wife, Gisele, was born in Paris, France.

John Gowans

The Army was created in London, England, back in 1865 by William Booth. The Army spread to the U.S. less than a decade later.

The Gowans were expected to retire this year also, but he was selected out of five candidates to become the Army's new general.

Thus the careers of both he and his wife have been extended three years, until November 2002.

Gowans is expected to bring his own penetrating vision to the office of general, as he is an accomplished lyricist and poet.

Gowans was selected back in May as 74 Salvation Army leaders gathered in London for a 10-day session kicked off by all members offering the Lord's Prayer in their own language.

On that concluding 10th day

Gowans (who had been serving as leader of the United Kingdom territory for the Salvation Army) was named to lead the Army into the 21st Century.

Gowans reportedly greeted the Army High Council's decision with the announcement, he would work for the "total mobilization of the Army."

Both Gowans have served in many locations around the globe -- including the United Kingdom, France, the USA and Australia.

St. Al's Festival to begin Aug. 27

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

St. Aloysius Church's usual annual Labor Day festival will be held a week early this year.

A church spokeswoman said festival directors decided that western Wayne County residents' lifestyles are different today than 49 years ago when the festival first began.

St. Aloysius Festival will begin at 5 p.m. Aug. 27 -- thus breaking the church's almost half century tradition.

"Labor Day weekend has become a weekend many persons go up north to close down their summer places," the spokeswoman said, "and that impacted both our festival volunteers and fun seekers."

She added "so by advancing the festival a week ahead of past schedules we feel we will be making it more convenient for everyone involved."

A popular group of musicians known as Channel 6 will begin performing from 6 to 11 p.m. that opening night Friday Aug. 27.

Meals will also be offered each night including a fish dinner on Aug. 27 (from 5 to 7:30 p.m.); a spaghetti dinner on Saturday Aug. 28 (from 4:30 to 7 p.m.) and a chicken dinner on Sunday Aug. 29 (from noon to 5 p.m.)

There will be plenty of parking, new amusement rides and a $5,000 grand prize for the raffle games.

In addition, the spokeswoman said, a Polka Mass will be held on Aug. 29 at which time Polish music will be featured.

Seniors enjoy 'Night Out'

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Senior citizens, local police officers and even youth of all ages teamed up recently in Romulus to "give crime a going away party."

Community Police Officer Joe Richardson said more than 300 seniors and other citizens gathered along Bibbins in Romulus to mark the national "Night Out" program.

Some of the outdoor activities and even those inside the Senior Center, Romulus Towers and other buildings along Bibbins were video taped by the city's Cable Department.

One of the highlights of the afternoon and evening events was the dunk tank sponsored by the 34th District Court. Various persons expressed pleasure at dunking Chief Judge Tina Brooks Green and Judge Brian Oakley.

Even Ronald McDonald of the Wayne Road McDonald's Restaurant offered an hour long program for the seniors' grandchildren and other youth focusing on "trustworthiness, responsibility and respect."

Richardson said the Open Pit Chicago Style and Coney restaurant of Romulus trained Police Chief Charles Kirby and Lts. Robert Brown and Eric Painter in the art of operating a hot dog stand that day.

The Double Tree Hotel and

U.S. Park companies provided games and volunteers for social outing.

Richardson added Crova's Towing Service also provided a Go-Kart for Officer Michael Jones to use during the afternoon and evening outdoor events.

In addition over 100 seniors enjoyed a turkey dinner at the center, and even more joined in bingo games.

Richardson said this year's Night Out event was even more organized than those in the past. He expressed deep appreciation to the Canton Fire Department for use of their portable fire house that was manned by local Fire Chief David Allison and some of his staff.

The fire house is a fire safety unit used to acquaint children how to exit fire and smoke filled homes.

He said funds from the Crime Prevention Association of Michigan and an Eastern Michigan University grant helped pay for many of the prizes and other gifts.

Richardson also thanked Judy Bower of the Romulus McDonald's for providing Ronald McDonald and other services.
